Difficult Dialogues

I believe we can change the world if we start listening to each other again. Simple, truthful conversation where we each have a chance to speak, we feel heard, and we each listen well.

— Margaret Wheatley

STUDENTS

- Attend Higgins School symposium events this semester.
- Sign up for a Dialogue Course.
- Sign up for a Dialogue Seminar | HS 010.

If you want an opportunity to deepen your understanding and experience of dialogue, consider taking the Dialogue Seminar. This half-credit course is led by teams of faculty members, paired with experienced DD fellows. It includes a set of readings on dialogue, with an emphasis is on the practice dialogue itself—built around issues raised by the public events in the Difficult Dialogues symposium series. For more information on this semester's seminars, download the Courses PDF above.

- Become a Difficult Dialogues Fellow.
- Let us know about your activities already underway, as well as your interests in the area of dialogue—we'd love to partner with you!

FACULTY

- Attend Higgins School symposium events this semester.
Encourage your students to come and use the content in your teaching
- Teach a Difficult Dialogues course.

Any course may be adapted to include a dialogue emphasis or component. Browse the course listings to see how faculty members are incorporating dialogue into the content and structure of their courses, and take a look at the questions DD faculty are asking themselves about what it means to bring dialogue to an existing course. If you are interested in participating in the Difficult Dialogues program in this way, please contact us at higinsschool@clarku.edu.
